

UNIVERSITY OF CENTRAL FLORIDA

ADVANCE YOUR CAREER IN ACUTE AND CRITICAL CARE

Introducing the Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner Graduate Program

CURRICULUM OVERVIEW

Prepares nurses for advanced practice with acute and critically ill patients.

Designed to support collaboration and interprofessional learning with online and classroom courses.

Emphasis on evidence-based practice, leadership and organizational analysis.

Provides analytic, critical thinking and diagnostic reasoning skills to examine practice innovations.

Combines experiential learning, laboratory simulations in a team-centered environment and direct clinical practice education.

AGACNP PROGRAM

- Two track options
- DNP: 27 courses, incl. lab and clinical hours
- Certificate: 8 courses, incl. lab and clinical hours
- Online and classroom instruction
- Flexible with full- and part-time options
- Graduates are eligible for the AGACNP certification exam

Across the nation there is a growing need for nurse practitioners certified to provide care for acute and critically ill patients. Gain the skills and knowledge necessary to serve these patients and answer the call. Advance your career in this high-demand field with the Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner (AGACNP) graduate program at the UCF College of Nursing. Located in Orlando, amidst a hub of healthcare activity, the college provides a high quality education grounded in evidence-based practice. It is ranked among the best in the nation for its programs and recognized as a best value.

- Post-baccalaureate DNP program for nurses with a bachelor's degree
- Graduate certificate for nurses licensed in an advanced practice role

WHY CHOOSE UCF NURSING?

NAMED A BEST VALUE
INSTITUTION

AN EDUCATIONAL LEADER
CELEBRATING
40 YEARS

Ranked among the BEST in the nation

by U.S. News & World Report
and others

ONE OF THE NATION'S LARGEST UNIVERSITIES

NATIONALLY RECOGNIZED FACULTY MEMBERS who are leading scholars and innovators in their field

World-class facilities in Orlando

a hub of healthcare activity

Nationally accredited *by the Commission
of Collegiate Nursing Education (CCNE)*

DID YOU KNOW?

The Adult Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner certification is the third-largest specialty of nurse practitioners in the U.S. today.

WHERE CAN I GET A JOB?

AGACNPs provide a full spectrum of care for adult patients with medically complex acute, critical and chronic illness across care settings. These settings include hospitals, ambulatory care and home care. AGACNPs order, perform, supervise and interpret laboratory, diagnostic and imaging studies. They also prescribe medication and durable medical equipment, and make appropriate referrals.

APPLY TODAY

DNP: Fall start
Apply by Feb. 1

Certificate: Spring start
Apply by Sept. 1