Post-MSN Nurse Practitioner

Hybrid

Upon completion of the accredited post-MSN advanced practice certificate program, graduates are eligible to sit for the required national certification examination in their specialty area. This exam is necessary to obtain the state license to practice and function in the advanced practice role.

This program allows APRNs to add an additional specialty to current practice.

Some components of this program are delivered online.

Program Descriptions

Adult-Gerontology Primary Care Nurse Practitioner

UCF's hybrid Adult-Gerontology Primary Care Nurse Practitioner curriculum prepares APRNs for advanced primary care practice, focusing on patients 13 years and older in primary care and home care settings.

AGPCNPs diagnose and manage self-limiting and chronic conditions and emphasize health promotion and disease prevention. Their services include, but are not limited to: ordering, conducting and interpreting diagnostic and laboratory tests; prescribing pharmacological agents and non-pharmacological therapies; and teaching and counseling.

Family Nurse Practitioner

UCF's hybrid Family Nurse Practitioner curriculum prepares APRNs for advanced primary care practice across the lifespan — from children to adults.

FNPs diagnose and manage self-limiting and chronic conditions and emphasize health promotion and disease prevention. Their services include, but are not limited to: ordering, conducting and interpreting diagnostic and laboratory tests; prescribing pharmacological agents and non-pharmacological therapies; and teaching and counseling.

Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner

UCF's hybrid Adult-Gerontology Acute Care Nurse Practitioner curriculum prepares APRNs for advanced practice in acute care, focusing on patients 18 years and older.

The AGACNP cares for adult or gerontology patients with medically-complex, stable and unstable acute, critical, and chronic illnesses across care settings ranging from hospitals to sub-acute, ambulatory care, clinic, and home care environments. The AGACNP provides a spectrum of care from disease prevention to acute and critical care management.
